

Property and Planning

How can we describe PPS's work on property or planning without sounding immodest? Well, modesty go hang. We originated the practise of using PR and community consultation to best present a planning case 20 years ago. We are the biggest consultancy doing this, have the most experience and an unbeatable track record of success. Does that sum it up?

Commercial Property Spotlight on Mountgrange	Edinburgh can present some challenges for building a major mixed-use regeneration scheme. But PPS helped Mountgrange secure planning permission for the Caltongate scheme overcoming well organised protesters, a change of Council leadership and the planning issues thrown up by being in the middle of a world heritage site.
Distribution Spotlight on ProLogis	Distribution schemes are notoriously contentious. PPS has been helping ProLogis secure its planning permissions for the best part of a decade – delivering distribution projects such as Alconbury and Howbury Park as well as smaller but nonetheless challenging projects.
Hotel development Spotlight on Premier Travel Inns	Premier Travel Inns is expanding, fuelled by travellers looking for affordable quality as the recession bites. And PPS is doing its bit, consulting communities, briefing councillors and delivering planning permissions across the country.
Residential Spotlight on Redrow Homes	PPS's relationship with Redrow goes back eight years, spans the whole country and is surviving even these straightened times. We have explained the local politics, consulted communities and handled media relations on schemes from Bishopton in Scotland, St Ives in the west and Basingstoke in the south.
Retirement Homes Spotlight on Anchor Trust	We're all getting older and the requirement for decent facilities for our declining years is growing. We've helped Anchor Trust to decide where to locate the first of its premier care homes and promoted a complicated application in the Green Belt near Woking, one of the country's leading "green" councils.
Urban Regeneration Spotlight on St Modwen	Urban regeneration projects always impact on local communities. Sometimes local people are keen to see investment but they are always wary of change. We are helping St Modwen secure major mixed-use allocations and planning permission on green field sites.
